Tools for the Grower

On Tuesday April 27th at 1:30 we will explore tools for the grower. No matter where you grow, why you grow or for whom you grow, good tools are key to successful crop production. Good tools used well boost productivity and allow you to get more done with less work. What are your favorite tools?

“Distribution of Gardening Tools at Emergency Gardens Plots During the Depression. Exact location is unknown but is likely Hennepin County. During The Depression (of the 1930s), Truck and Market Gardens would donate land to be farmed by poor people. The relief organizations would pay the workers and the food would go to the poor. Many of the relief organization that sponsored relief gardens were originally city or village run before being turned over to the county.” Source: Hennepin County Library.
